BOWLING GREEN STATE COLLEGE, MARCH 21, 1934

No. 25.

MARVIN A. GEORGE ELECTED HEAD OF KY. MUSIC EDU. ASSOC.

Mr. Marvin E. George has recently been elected President of the Kentucky Music Education Association, an organization made up of music teachers in the high schools and colleges of the state. Mr. George, is a graduate of the music department of Bowling Green State College and is at the present time in charge of public school music and instrumental teaching in the Morehead State Teachers College, Morehead, Ky. The following notice from a Morehead paper will be interesting to Mr. George's many friends in Bowling Green:

JUNIOR BAND AT CONVENTION

As a stimulus to college students to take up the study of an instrument, Prof. M. E. George, presented his Junior Band in a Chapel program on Friday, February 9. The group is called "Junior" not because of the age of its members, but because of the length of time that the majority of the players have studied an instrument. It includes pupils from sixth grade to college who, with but two or three exceptions have "taken lessons" less than a year.

The program consisted of marches, waltzes and other concert numbers played by the entire band, solos on trumpet and bass, by Leo Oppenheimer and H. T. Hamm respectively, and a brass quartet made up of Calvin Crosthwaite and Charles Fraley, trumpets; Wendell Brown, alto, and H. T. Hamm, bass.

This program was greatly enjoyed, judging by the very enthusiastic applause which followed each number. Great liking for the band in general, the solos and the quartet was expressed.

In this work, Professor George is a pupil of Prof. Noral L. Church of Teachers College, Columbia University. Professor Church is one of the outstanding authorities in this field, and his enthusiastic recommendation of the work of his pupil fore-

William Noble Undergoes A Major Operation

William Noble, graduate student at the University of Michigan, member of the class of 1933 B. G. S. C. and editor of the Bee Gee News in 1932-33, recently underwent a major operation of the spine at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich.

His condition became so serious a blood transfusion was necessary. Latest reports we obtain are that Bill is holding his own, though in a serious condition. The surgeons are greatly encouraged, so much so, they are predicting a complete recovery.

Home Economics Clubs Hold Regional Meeting

The second regional meeting of the Home Economics Club was held at the University of Toledo last Saturday. The University of Toledo and Bowling Green State College Clubs along with several high school clubs were represented at the meeting. The high schools which belong to this district are Milan, Castalia, Norwalk, Greensprings, Bloomville, Libbey, Waite and Bowling Green. A short talk was given by each club representative, telling what the home economics club is doing in her school. Some clubs were found to be quite industrious.

Miss Gates, the secretary of the Y. W. C. A. gave a talk about the "Contributions of Home Economics to the Wise Use of Leisure Time." Miss Bevins of the Lucas County Relief Administration gave a short talk about "Nutritional Findings of the Relief Program."

After the luncheon a trip was taken thru the University buildings. Following this the business meeting was held. Afterwards a short spring fashion show was conducted and tea was served to the group by the hostesses, who were from the University of Toledo and the Toledo high schools.

About twenty home economics girls from this college and several from the local high school attended this meeting.

COLLEGE BAND IS REPRESENTED IN FESTIVAL AT BEREA

A unique and perhaps historic event took place at Berea last Saturday when Baldwin-Wallace College was host to six hundred musicians from thirteen Ohio colleges. The event was the first Band Festival to be conducted by the newly organized Ohio Inter-Collegiate Band Association.

Under the direction of the Guest Conductor, Harold Bachman of Chicago, a selected band of 90 players presented a finished evening program after a single rehearsal. Bowling Green was represented in the selected band by Lois Kindinger and Lawrence Ringenberg, trumpets; Alfred Snyder, clarinet; and Philip Zaugg, french horn.

At a meeting of directors, attended by Mr. Church, Akron University was tentatively selected as the site of next year's Ohio College Band Festival.

COLLEGE CAMPUS TO BE SCENE OF HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUMENTAL FESTIVAL

On next Saturday, March 24th, the college Music Department will conduct a High School Instrumental Festival, the first event of its kind in Northwestern Ohio. Arrangements are in charge of C. F. Church, M. C. McEwen, and other faculty members of the department.

Of the three hundred applications received, the committee has chosen one hundred and thirty-five players for the Festival Band, and twenty-four for the Multiple String Quartet. These players will represent the bands and orchestras of over forty high schools.

Rehearsals during the day Saturday will prepare these two organizations for a public evening concert in the Men's Gymnasium. Glenn Cliffe Bainum, Director of Bands and Glee Clubs at Northwestern University, will come to Bowling Green as Guest Conductor of the Festival Band. M. C. McEwen of our faculty will direct the Multiple String Quartet.

A new college song will be presented on this program, with the help of the band, the string group, and others. Activity books will admit students to the evening concert. For others, an admission of twenty-five cents will be charged to help pay the expenses of the undertaking.

It is hoped that students and townspeople will take advantage of the unusual opportunity of hearing this first Instrumental Festival under college auspices.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

All students enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts are requested to meet in the Auditorium in the Administration Building at 4 p. m., Wednesday, March 21.

This meeting is being called in response to the growing desire on the part of many students so classified, for an organization to foster an "esprit de corps" among students who labor contemporaneously in the College of Liberal Arts for four glorious, never-to-be-forgotten years.

Students who are enrolled in both colleges are urged to attend.

Heretofore, on different occasions, after groups on the campus have been organized, antagonism has arisen toward the methods or manners of organization, or toward student factions who "seem to be" fostering the movement. However, this meeting is being called by the office of the College of Liberal Arts in answer to a felt demand for it, and the total responsibility for organization lies wholly with the students concerned.

Let each of us take a few minutes to hear about the interesting projects that may be developed. Remember, 4 p. m. Wednesday.

THE FIRST LAP

Six weeks have passed, and we've rounded the first turn of our semester's work. Some of us are lagging a little under the grind, others are forging ahead. Anything can happen this early in the game, and those that seem to be "eating dust" now, may yet lope in with a comfortable lead. So let's whip up our resources and step out just a little farther, a little faster on the next two laps. And when the last milestone has been passed, let's be able to surprise some of the onlookers by coming in far ahead of where the "bookies" placed us!

YEA CLA-ZEL

Our "Campus Correspondents" should award a whole bouquet of orchids, or possibly a young box-elder tree to the Cla-Zel theatre for their admirable bargain-rates of Monday, March 12. We feel sure that all the students who saw and enjoyed the Garbo as "Queen Christina", will join with us in congratulating the management for their courtesy and consideration in offering this program at such reasonable rates. Certainly we hope that the theatre did not lose thereby.

Still ten days to write a story.

Hot Water

Why can't the girls have hot water for their showers? The water for boys is always warm, but not so in the girl's shower room. They shiver and shake through a cold shower, or go without one. After a basketball game a shower is necessary before putting on street clothes. Even tho basketball is over, there is volley-ball and then baseball. So please heat the water for girl's showers. Has any one else anything to say on this subject.—A Student.

"I think marriages are really made in heaven, don't you?"

"Well, if all men took as long to propose as you, most of them would have to be."
—Epworth Herald.

HITHER AND YAWN

Spring!—Signs of spring have been few and far between, but now that the first day is really here, we shall be more aware of real spring-signs—A few student have been seen strolling out on country lanes, exploring paths and woods—A few more of the familiar birds have returned. A red-tailed hawk was seen sailing overhead on motionless wings—The birds that have been here all winter have been singing more lately, and uttering their melodious spring notes. The notes of the nut hatch and starling were especially noticeable last week during the beautiful deceiving days—Perhaps the spring symptoms brought some inspirations and suggestions for short stories? The chance to win a book in the pen contest will be over on March 29.

Dollar Books—One of the blessings to the depression-ridden is the "dollar edition" of popular worthwhile books. How gratifying to be able to buy a sturdy, readable copy of Martin's Meaning of a Liberal Education, Tolstoy's Anna Karenina, Browne's Blessed Spinoza, for a dollar!

The pen contest committee have chosen an excellent prize for the writer of the best short story. It is understood that the winner may choose any dollar book he wishes. Some other favorite books on the list are: Krehbiel's A Book of Operas, Adler's Understanding Human Nature, Wells' Outline of History, Symond's Autobiography of Benvenuto Cellini, Browne's This Believing World, Martin's Liberty, Lawrence's Revolt in the Desert, Isadora Duncan's My Life.

Does anyone else have anything to say on the subject of formality and culture?

Makes Startling Discovery

Saturday afternoon, March 17, I witnessed one of the most spectacular feats of I-can-take-it that was ever performed. One, Mr. Theodore Kunkle of the Kunkle Bros. becoming alarmed at an upper classman, began a hasty exit from an upstairs room, by the means of a steep stairway. Mr. Kunkle was traveling at such tremendous speed that his legs were merely a blur. He was endeavoring to put on a shirt during his rapid descent and to duck for a low place in the stairway at the same time. The result was that he lost his balance, and what followed was rapid-fire action.

Going into a swan-dive that began half way down the stairway, he continued his flight leading with his chin until there was a bone crushing crash and then silence. Wow! What a landing. Right on the nose and "button". Mr. Kunkle was on his feet at the count of two. Rushing to a mirror he surveyed the wreckage. He was of the opinion that his nose had changed position. The landlady offered to supply a mattress for him for future dives, as it will save the hardwood floor. Come on your athletes, here is a new record to break.

casted the splendid and rapid success that the instrumental work has had here since Professor George's coming. Noteworthy, in these instrumental classes, is not only the rapid development of the ability to play the instrument, but also the cultivation of fine taste in music. Equally noteworthy is the low mortality rate in classes in instruments conducted under this method. Students are less liable to tire and give up study, and are more liable to carry on the real achievement.

The Junior Band has been heard several times recently at the High School basketball games, and aroused enthusiastic comment there. The Senior Band cannot but grow, flourish and progress with such splendid material coming on to fill up its ever-thinning ranks from year to year.

SOCIAL EVENTS

SORORITIES

Phratra Notes

On Tuesday evening of last week, the Phratra girls and a group of friends made merry at a St. Patrick's party. Room 103, in its gay green garb forgot for an evening that it had ever had any legal connections with college classes. It rocked with the laughter characteristic of contests and games, and joined in Irish songs as well as playing quite a part in the Irish folk dancing. Our only regret is that we lacked the Orangemen who might have attempted a raid on the glorious green.

Warbles from Williams

On the average that upper corridor burns midnight oil with a vengeance, and beds are put in order with the presumption, yea, hope that there may be some spare moments in which sleep may be snatched. Of course, there are those, who go to bed, and fall out, dragging the covers after them—in the pursuit of the elusive alarm clock. Be that as it may, they are a bunch well worth watching—crafty, mischievous, needful of reckoning with.

Friday night I peeked around a corner, because I heard an awful racket. A half a dozen were enjoying the frolic of water throwing, and were just seeking to throw one of the number into a chilly tub of water when Grandma came to her rescue. (Knights are not permitted, you know!)

Another group of Co-eds flung a lady's cardinal slipper into the Bird Bath. Did the main participant expect the birds to build a nest in it, or was she hoping it would color the water and give the birds a treat? The said young lady was deeply offended. She swore revenge! "He, who takes the sword perishes by it," lady, remember? In the course of the before-lunch-cleaning the cots were moved out of their customary places—and both she and her roommate slept amongst crumbs. Remains of the cooky crumbs may be seen, if they haven't melted, on the upper porch of Williams Hall. An aeroplane and microscope are all that's needed if you've had a course from Mr. Moseley.

By the insignia of cold sores, and by the clatter of skates you will know them. I heard them muttering last night that there were plenty of fine skating places in the dormitory, if you were only "in the know", but what good would it do you to know?

Just in case you'd care to know it's:

Donna Dague, Doris Courtright, Evelyn Emerine, LaVerda Hutchinson, Gertrude McMasters, Lucy Newman, Frances Raif-snyder, Bertha Schowe, Winifred Stones, and Kay Ueberle I've been talking about.

TIP-OFF PARTY TAKES LAURELS

Friday evening, March 16, the Five Brothers sponsored the annual Tip-Off Party at the Men's gym. Approximately 200 couples attended, the largest number to attend any party this season. Carl Decker and his band from Valleydale, Columbus, Ohio, furnished music for the occasion. During the course of the evening, Kenneth Kunkle played a xylophone solo, Kenneth Doehring rendered an accordion solo, Kate Duffy sang and tapped danced, Kate Held and Annabel Short also entertained the dancers with a clever novelty act, accompanied at the piano by Athena Avery.

The room was illuminated with blue and red flood lights. The orchestra platform was draped with blue, and ferns and flowers were placed in the foreground. The basketball team was introduced at the intermission, as were Brown Award Man, Orla Thomas and honorary captain, Bill Thomas.

The Five Brothers are to be commended for sponsoring such a delightful and successful dance. Faculty members present were Or. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Slater, Dr. Martin, Mr. Steller, Mr. Landis and Miss Hall.

Quill Types Notes

Some of the commercial students do not realize what they are missing by not attending Quill-Type meetings. The idea that Quill-Type is just another dry meeting is absurd. Many amusing and entertaining incidents happen at each and every meeting, for instance, some of the "Ripley stories" which Evelyn Baker read from her current events at the last meeting were quite laughable.

The program consisted of: an accordion solo by Kenneth Doehring, a short story by Florence Duffield, parliamentary drill by Winifred Dunipace, piano duet by Grace Myers and Winifred Dunipace, book review by Evelyn Swartz, current events by Evelyn Baker and another accordion solo by Kenneth Doehring.

Shatzel Snitches

Last week some of the romances of Shatzel were overlooked. Last Wednesday night a would-be romance was nipped in the bud. When "Art" asked to take "Mugs" home she got all ready to go—and went—without "Art". Too bad! "Carp" and Charlotte will gladly rent the sofa some night next week—probably a second Tuesday night if possible.

"There is talk that the next war will be fought with radio."

"Well, I'm in training, I've faced some terrible programs."

FRATERNITIES

Commoners' Annual Dance Enjoyed by Many Guests

About thirty couples were present at the Eighth Annual Dance of the Commoners Fraternity on Saturday evening, March 17th. Brothers not on the campus who returned for the dance include Bill Miller, John Davidson, Franklin Moss, Elmer Steiner, and James and Don Armstrong. Faculty guests included President and Mrs. Homer B. Williams, Dean and Mrs. James R. Overman, Dean and Mrs. Clyde D. His-song, Dr. and Mrs. Leon B. Slater, Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Zaugg, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Singer, and Mr. and Mrs. William Dunipace, Sr. Carl McColloch and John Moore were guest representatives of the Delhi and Five Brother fraternities respectively.

The Commoners wish to express their appreciation of the all-college Tip Off Dance sponsored by the Five Brothers which was held on Friday evening.

Delhi

Simply because every other person seems to be wanting our social system changed all over or at least in part, Carl McColloch has a new idea. "It is ideal," he said, "because we are all so busy that we don't have any spare time to enjoy ourselves. Why can't we combine our fun periods," he says, "and thus have more time to work?" He claims, too, that not every person would work more if he did have more time but even then he could get two to three times as much fun out of his pleasure hours. He claims that this doctrine would be backed by every professor on the campus.

On and on he goes. "Instead of wasting one complete evening at a formal dance and another one on a picnic—as the fraternity has done in the past—why in the name of common sense can't we have them both on the same night? Play ball for half an hour, dance for half an hour, eat for an hour, row a boat for half an hour, dance again, play blackman until dark, and then dance until twelve. Isn't it uncanny?"

He forgot, however, that tuxedos and gowns would be rather bundlesome to wear while playing. The Delhis have a couple of debaters and at the next meeting, all this will probably be ironed out. The results will be given later.

"It is a very funny thing, but every time I dance with you the dances seem very short."

"They are. My fiance is leader of the orchestra."

Kicking the Gang Around

Three cheers for the Five Brothers for giving us the best dance of the year—and what a Floor Show—Home talent was very much in evidence—Ben Bernie will have to look to his laurels if Miller Jansen continues his Mastering of Ceremonies—and Kate Held may offer Jane Froman competition.

The Thomases score again—Congrats to both Bill and Orla—Bill for being chosen honoring captain by his team mates—and Orla for winning the Brown Award and being voted the best player of the year.

Also an orchid to Kenny Weber, for his good basketball playing, nice track work and fine waitering.

Thank you, Commoners, for the swell-elegant formal—The letter openers will certainly come in handy.

“And they say the Commoners play when the Cats away”—one of the gallant heroes proved himself an exception to this rule and true to his lady-love by driving twenty-three miles Saturday night—and away from the ball.

Another Stevens crashes through—“Young Red” upheld the family name in the track meet at Detroit—we are proud of him, Mom.

Don't be so lonesome, Johnny—perhaps we can get the Odd Fellows or the Kiwanians to stage a show that requires a directress.

Doctor Nordmann's quips and cracks will be omitted in this issue—due to special request.

It's too bad, “Boom”, better luck next time—remember all trains and buses have on time, even in Bowling Green.

“In the spring a young man's fancy, etc.” Don Everett up and about after an attack of flu—the Clague Sisters staying longer and farther from home—Fred Johnston driving “Parnassus on Wheels” with the top down—Lyle and “Checker” sensing romance in the air—Gertie Erkman's new white shoes—the inauguration of a new game; it is called “going stepping” and requires a stair way, a maid, and a man—Steve, patrolling his beat minus his overcoat.

(What spans of Utopian imagination are possible under the influence of Orpheus? Some such preconceived idealism was apparent the other afternoon in the prostrate position of a prominent “Key” worker. His arms had become entwined in a window curtain in a passionate embrace. Can a Skol have been the cause of this Commoner's “Reverend” flight of fancy.)

Faithfully yours,
Your Campus Correspondents

Justice Lamar was a gentleman of the old school. Confronted one day by a pretty girl who had not seen him for a year, she accused him of not remembering her.

“Not remember you! My dear young lady, I have spent the past twelve months trying to forget you!”

Personals

Miss Hall, member of the college department of music, has been skipping classes to entertain the “flu” at her apartment.

Prof. Crowley, head of the department of industrial arts, is at home with a fine case of the “flu”.

Just recently he spent about three weeks with Prof. Tunncliffe, while his family was under quarantine for scarlet fever.

We are not quite sure of the source of the “flu”. Maybe Prof. Tunncliffe then again, he may have stood outside his home looking in too often and too long, or it could have been midnight calls to tend the extinguished furnace fire to save the family from freezing.

Laments of The Lost

(By Evelyn L. Emerine)

ON BEING EDUCATED

I

“Emmy” raves with a terrible frown,
“Practice Teaching is getting me down—
Through the woods and over to Ridge.
(I'm ready to jump from the nearest bridge)

I tripped and fell with an echoing thud—
Hectograph sheets flew around in the mud.
I wobbled and rushed, but still I was late.
Oh, what a horrible, horrible Fate!
If I live through this, then the worst may come;

If I don't survive—may my ghost be dumb!

II

I indulge in contemplation,
Greater grows my indignation—
Louder shrieks my condemnation
Of that darned examination!

III

While we all are learning
A right to clear discerning,
Still we feel that yearning
(Instead of wisely earning)
To keep the home-fires burning.
Soon we'll be adjourning
For the worm is turning.

The new play was a failure. After the first act many left the theatre; at the end of the second most of the others started out. A cynical critic, as he rose from his seat, raised a restraining hand.

“Wait!” he loudly commanded.

“Women and children first.”

“McTavish is an excellent judge of whiskey, isn't he?”

“Ay, a grand judge—an' a merciless executioner.”

Students Enjoy Assembly

Members of the Choral Literature class of the Music Department presented an unusually fine musical program in assembly, Tuesday, March 13. Virginia Betts, Franchon DeVerna, Margery Sams, Elvira Krouse, Alfred George, LeVon Connelly, and Bob James joined in giving the student body an enjoyable assembly hour. Rev. Siebens of the Presbyterian church of Bowling Green was present.

"In Gratitude"*Student Teachers to Their Advisors
At Ridge Street*

Are there student teachers in the crowd?
 "Yes, we are here," the chorus vowed.
 In spirits high, with cheerful talk
 We left the "Nook"—and thronged the walk
 Through the doors and down the aisle
 Swept our laughing, joyful file.
 Then--silence--as we settled down
 To watch the play with smile or frown,
 To follow it with hopes and fears
 And, later, weep warm, bitter tears
 For seemed Christina's sacrifice
 So real, forgot we artifice
 That throws itself upon the screen
 And lashes through each stormy scene
 To give us wings of sympathy
 To fly through vivid imagery
 Until we, too, can feel the stress
 Of grief and love—to scorn success
 In one fine gesture for a dream
 And learn that it, too, was a gleam
 From some far-off, mysterious place
 Whence comes this intricately lovely lace
 Called life—and whence it disappears—
 We sat and strove to hide our tears,
 And when t'was finished we all thought
 In thankful vein of those who brought
 Our oft slow-moving company
 Into this place that we might see
 Creative beauty—worthwhile play
 Our answer, then, that we all say,
 Is, "Thanks, oh counselors, (critics?-nay!)"

A SNOOP SNOOPS

Was at the formal t'other night—jest 'a snoop, 'at's all—ever do that? Anyhow the sight made me a converted optimist. Maybe the depression really is all over. There were a few tuxes lacking—but the gals surely made up for them. Here's a bit of what I saw—

Guernsey in a lovely white crepe trimmed in black fur—carefully guarded by gay Gottfried, of course. Jean Forest, in gown of flattering blue crepe—but Johnny was not with her—Solether in a gorgeous tho' exposing white satin trimemd with crimson; of course Johnson was with her—Pinardi, on the arm of good-lookin' blonde (the new b. f?) was elegant in fashionable all-white outfit—Doyle, very aristocratic-looking in a black taffeta with gold accessories—was of course, with Don—this new Phillips gal with Max D. in a simply divine light blue chiffon velvet with pink acesories—G. McMahon in an all-black crepe, Z. Fries in a nifty crimson, cut low, ya know. Frye's gal-know her?—was very sweet in her pastel net—Urkain, under the care of Titus was becomingly gowned in gold crepe—Monica was in a gorgeous black taffeta trimmed in crimson. Vogel looked very pretty in a lovely blue crepe—who's the gentlemen friend tho? Pisel strutted Fisher to the dance too—she looked sophisticated in a lovely black taffeta. Ethel Butler added to the Five Sister representation—she came out with Keil and looked lovely in white satin. Gotta go now, but I'll be back again.

Bee Gee Track Team Defeated by Wayne

Bee Gee had their first track meet of the year with Detroit City College, better known now as Wayne University. Wayne U. was victorious over Bee Gee; our squad was made up principally of inexperienced men, but our prospects are certainly good. Our experienced men showed their ability and came through with some points. The defeat of Saturday may mean the winning of many track meets in the future. The following is the record of the meet. The able manager who accompanied the team were, Manager Foxy Howbert and his assistants Robert Ruth and Wayne Phillips.

Pole vault—Grimm, Wayne, first; Spatlif, Wayne, second; Hartman, BG, third. 11 feet 6 inches.

Volley Ball Tournament

On Tuesday night one can go down to Gym A and there see 30 very enthusiastic women indulging in the 'in between' sport of volley-ball.

This semester the volley-ball is ably handled by Helen DeTray who has formed six teams and now has a very lively tournament in progress.

Midget Win Closes Basketball Season

By virtue of their win over the Pirates on March 12, the Midgets won the coveted first place in the Women's basketball tourney. In the tournament first semester, we found the Pirates sailing through to win. Second semester a new league was formed, and this was won by the Midgets. Just to decide on the championship team of the whole season, these two teams were pitted against each other. The mighty Midgets by the aid of the tall and unguardable Mary Miller, sailed on to victory, 29-25.

Women Baseball Fans Notice

Now that basketball is over and spring is in the air (some of the time) our thoughts are turning to the great American sport, baseball. All women who expect to report for baseball should watch the physical education cork board for further announcements.

All are busy now getting the "Dance Review" ready to present in April, but after that is over time out will be taken and baseball will get under way.

Subjugation

All of the whips of life
Flogging me, flogging me,
All of the salt of life
Poured in my sores—

I lift my lips to life
Lover-like, confident.
How can a woman hate
What she adores?

—Anne Onne

"Johnnie, I wish you would learn better manners; you're a regular little pig at the table," said Johnnie's father. Silence on Johnnie's part. Then to make it more impressive, Johnnie's father asked, "Do you know what a pig is, Johnnie?"

"Yes, sir," said Johnnie, meekly, "It's a hog's little boy."

Ping Pong

The ping pong tournament started March 19, and will end April 7. All games must be played by then and the winner recognized. Eighteen men are entered in the tournament and more than usual interest is being shown. Watch the Bee Gee News for the name of the winner.

Tennis

Varsity Tennis has acquired two more players. They are: Boemgarden and Kyle.

Be Careful

Our intramural basketball was a big success, and we want all of our intramural sports to be the same, a success. There were too many forfeits in volley ball this last week. We know that some of it was due to the lack of organization, but this week it must be different. You who have signed your names to play in these sports should do so. Your cooperation means a poor program or a good one. If everyone comes out we will have a good program. Don't let it be said that you are a slacker.
